

Accessible Instructional Materials & Technology Summit

The Accessibility Summit will bring national figures in accessibility issues, such as Eve Hill, Senior Counselor to the Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division, US Department of Justice and Dan Goldstein, Counsel for the National Federation of the Blind. These speakers and others will address our obligations for accessibility and reinforce the work of the THEC Task Force on Accessibility that is in action now in accordance with state legislation.

DAY ONE:

Designed for Senior Administrators and functional Staff Personnel

DAY TWO:

Focus on developing an institutional plan for accessibility to instructional materials and technology and how we can work collaboratively as a system and a state to address those expectations. Those working directly in relevant areas should plan to attend Day Two.

REGISTRATION :

No fee for attendance. Travel costs are responsibility of individual institutions.
